

Pasta al Limone

#cooking/recipe

#2020/February

#cooking/30 Minutes or Less#

#cooking/vegetarian

#cooking/dinner

---

Pasta al Limone Recipe | Bon Appetit

Ingredients

1 lemon
12 oz. spaghetti or other long pasta
Kosher salt
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup heavy cream
6 Tbsp. unsalted butter
3 oz. finely grated Parmesan (about  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup)
Freshly ground black pepper

Process

Using a vegetable peeler, remove two 2"-long strips of lemon zest. Thinly slice each strip lengthwise into thin strands; set aside for serving. Finely grate remaining zest into a large pot (like a Dutch oven). Cut lemon in half and squeeze out enough juice to yield 2 Tbsp. into a small bowl; set aside.

Cook pasta in another large pot of boiling heavily salted water, stirring occasionally, until very al dente (pasta will finish cooking in the sauce).

Meanwhile, add cream to pot with lemon zest and cook over medium heat, whisking often, until liquid is just beginning to simmer, about 2 minutes. Reduce heat to medium-low. Whisk in butter 1 Tbsp. at a time until melted and sauce is creamy and emulsified. Remove from heat.

Just before pasta is al dente, scoop out  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups pasta cooking liquid. Add  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup pasta cooking liquid to cream sauce and return to medium heat. Using tongs, transfer spaghetti to pot with sauce (it's okay if a little water comes along with it). Cook, tossing often and adding Parmesan little by little, until cheese is melted and sauce is creamy, about 3 minutes. If sauce looks tight, add 1-2 Tbsp. pasta cooking liquid. (Cream sauces tighten up very quickly as they cool, so it's better to lean on the saucier side of things.) Stir in reserved lemon juice; season with more salt, if needed.

Divide pasta among bowls. Season with pepper, then top with reserved lemon zest strips.

Nutrition

Servings: 4

Calories:

Fat:

Carbs:

Protein: